Allied Troops Move Toward Yugoslavia

YANKS, BRITISH TAKING OVER KEY POSITIONS

Action Ordered By Alexander May Bring Showdown In Ticklish Situation

ALLIES AVOID CLASHES

'Diplomacy And Friendship' To Be Anglo-American Slogan, Scribe Says

LONDON, May 22—British and American forces in northeast Italy began moving east toward the Yugoslav border today, in effect infiltrating Yugoslav lines in disputed Venezia Giulia province.

J. Edward Murray, United Press correspondent with the Eighth army, said the western Allies gradually were taking over possession of a number of high peaks and other key positions that had not been occupied by the Yugoslavs.

Yugoslav occupation forces, partisans and civil administrators for the most part occupied only towns when they marched into Venezia Giulia, leaving the surrounding country unguarded, the dispatch said.

The action may bring a showdown in the ticklish Yugoslav situation. It was ordered by Marshal Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean, after Marshal Tito rejected his demand that Yugoslav occupation forces be withdrawn from Venezia Giulia.

The province was awarded to Italy after the last war, but now is claimed by Yugoslavia. Alexander contends that Allied troops should occupy the area until its final disposition has been decided at the peace conference.

Murray said the eastward movement of Allied troops was designed carefully to avoid friction with the Yugoslavs by the simple expedient of not entering areas held by them.

Should Yugoslav troops be encountered, Murray said, "diplomacy and friendship will be the Anglo-American watchwords."

"Today should determine whether the current policy of peaceful penetration will succeed without trouble," Murray said.

He said the troop movements were under way from Udine southward to a point below Gorizia.

Both Murray and James E. Roper, United Press correspondent at Eighth army headquarters, said American reinforcements had joined the American 91st division in the area to help present a united Allied front.

The situation continued tense in Trieste and elsewhere in the province, but dispatches disagreed as to whether it was likely to improve or worsen.

Roper said the situation was likely to get worse before it bettered, barring last-minute diplomacy. (Continued on Page Two)

Lend-Lease Necessary, Truman Says

15 Cents Of Every American Dollar Goes For Aid To U. S. Allies

WASHINGTON, May 22—President Truman and the Foreign Economic Administration told congress today that lend-lease must continue on an "adjusted and reduced" basis to generate the overwhelming power needed to crush Japan.

FEA reported that a grand total of $38,971,000,000 in American lend-lease aid had been poured into the United Nations war machine in a little more than four years up until last March 31.

This, it said, amounted to fifteen cents out of every American war dollar spent during that period.

The most important thing the U. S. has gained through lend-lease, the report declared, has been "the defeat of Nazi Germany and the hastening of the day of victory over Japan."

In addition, however, it said this country had received up to last January $5,000,000,000 worth of services and supplies from its Allies. That's a return roughly of one-eighth of what we shipped to our Allies.

Lend-lease programs to all the Allies have now been "adjusted and reduced to take into account the end of hostilities in Europe and the new military situation," FEA said.

Both the report and a letter from President Truman accompanying it avoided any direct mention of Russia's role in lend-lease now that full war emphasis has been shifted to the Pacific. (Continued on Page Two)

INTERIM SETUP TO RUN BRITAIN

Churchill Busy Organizing Government To Replace Coalition Cabinet

LONDON, May 22—Prime Minister Churchill today was organizing an interim government which was expected to replace his coalition cabinet within a few days and rule Britain until the general election early in July.

Churchill was expected to ask King George within two or three days to dissolve parliament and thus set in motion the machinery for the country's first general election since 1935.

The breakup of the coalition government, formalized by the labor party's rejection of Churchill's proposal yesterday to carry on until Japan is defeated, cleared the way for the general election.

The next move in the complicated jockeying for election position lay with Churchill. Before asking for the formal dissolution of parliament. He might ask his labor ministers to turn in their seals of office.

Whatever the technique, the action will be aimed at trying to shift responsibility for breaking up the coalition onto the shoulders of the other fellow. The procedure will approximate this:

Churchill will announce that he has asked the king to dissolve parliament on a date three weeks in the future. The king will issue a proclamation for the election. Nineteen days later the people in England, Wales, Scotland and northern Ireland will vote. The results will be announced 21 days after the election, giving time for transmission of ballots from service personnel overseas.

Underlying the partisan electioneering was concern over the effects of a midsummer election would have on Britain's foreign relations. Emphasis was placed particularly on Churchill's difficulties in attending any big three meeting until his position at home is clear.

Conference To Set Up Interim Commission To Plan New League Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22—The United Nations conference will set up an interim organization before adjourning early in June and will give it the task of fixing the date and city for the first meeting of the new league, it was learned today.

This conference, harassed by many other problems including a big va. little nation row over the Yalta voting formula, thus will escape the bitter fight over selection either of a temporary or permanent site for the new organization.

The interim organization will be the connecting link between this conference and the proposed new organization to be known as "The United Nations."

In addition to calling the first meeting of the new league, once there is the necessary ratification, the interim council also will supervise continued work on questions unsettled here. It will assist also in arranging the eventual amalgamation of the old league into the new one.

The rough plan for bridging the gap between this conference and the inauguration of the new league was revealed as conference officials began emphasizing the desire to finish here in about two weeks. Limitation of debate, plus the desire of most delegates to return home, is expected to help officials hit close to their present target for adjournment—the first week in June.

Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., said last night that conference "has been very satisfactory and we hope it will be possible to complete the draft." (Continued on Page Two)

DRAFTING OF MEN OVER 30 MAY BE HALTED

WASHINGTON, May 22—A proposal to halt induction of men over 30 engaged in "useful" work is being considered by selective service officials, it was understood today.

The proposal is one of several which selective service is discussing with a view to a post V-E day revision of draft policy.

With victory in Europe, draft quotas after June are expected to drop below 100,000 monthly. Current quotas are from 120,000 to 150,000. The quotas are expected to remain approximately at the reduced figure after July.

Selective service officials would not comment on the draft revision proposals and there was no indication when an announcement might be made. It was understood, however, that one proposed deferment of all married men had been rejected on grounds that it would lead to widespread deferment of younger men and induction of too many older men of less use to the armed forces.

ARMY PROBES DERAILMENT OF TROOP TRAIN

PIQUA, O., May 22—Railroad and Army officials today continued their investigation into the derailment of a Pennsylvania railroad troop train in the Piqua manufacturing district in which 24 returned war veterans were injured.

The soldiers, all veterans of from two to two-and-a-half years overseas, were enroute to Camp Atterbury, Ind., Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and Fort Bliss, Tex., where they were to report before receiving furloughs.

Capt. John B. Mitchell, officer in charge of the train, said 400 officers and men were on the train when it apparently struck a spread rail on a 35-foot overpass.

The first eight cars and the locomotive remained on the track while the ninth car was derailed. The next four cars tumbled down the embankment, however, and three others derailed on the overpass. The last car remained on the track.

East-west traffic was tied up temporarily until wreck crews could move in to clear the right-of-way. The names of the injured were withheld until their relatives could be notified.

OSU ENROLLMENT UP

COLUMBUS, May 22—An increase of 1,596 students, 26 per cent, in Ohio State University's enrollment this spring over the same term last year was reported today by Dr. Ronald B. Thompson, registrar-examiner.

60 To 100 Men Die Daily In Freed Dachau Prison

DACHAU, Austria, May 22—Death still stalked Dachau today, 25 days after its liberation.

For the inmates of this notorious concentration camp, liberation has meant little. From 60 to 100 men still are dying daily. Another 3,000 are almost hopeless cases. The corpses left by the Nazis have been cleaned away, but their places have been taken by new rows of bodies.

AMERICAN GOLD HOARD SHRINKS

Stockpile Reached Peak Of $22,800,000,000 In 1941; Now $20,331,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 22—This country's gold hoard has shrunk $2,500,000,000 during the war.

The gold stockpile was at a peak of $22,800,000,000 in November, 1941. The latest treasury statement shows gold assets totaling $20,331,000,000.

Much of the lost gold is still physically in the country, earmarked for foreign nations as a result of dollar credits they have built up here.

Our gold holdings began to rise rapidly when the war drums first started to beat abroad. They quickly—(Continued on Page Two)

BRITISH FOOD RATIONS CUT; NAZIS AFFECTED

LONDON, May 22—The British food ministry ordered a new cut in the national food ration today and announced that it will be applied also to German prisoners of war held in the United Kingdom.

The principal cuts on the home front will be in oils and fats, in which shortages have become critical. The already tight sugar ration will be maintained at its present level for the rest of 1945, and the meat ration—about 23 cents worth a week—will also be retained.

The ministry explained the German prisoners' rations were being pared in deference to the general feeling of the British public that these captives were being overfed. The exact reduction applied to the Germans, however, is still being worked out.

The need for tighter food rationing was traced to the fact that the liberation of Europe created unexpectedly heavy demands on the world food supply.

FIRST ARMY TO LEAD AMERICANS INTO PACIFIC

Hodges' Unit To Be First Major Force In Europe To Be Sent East

MEN COME HOME FIRST

Famous Fighting First Is Already 'On The Move' War Department Says

WASHINGTON, May 22—The pace-setting American 1st Army will lead the way for Yanks in Europe bound for the Pacific.

First to land in France, first to invade Germany, first across the Rhine and first to meet the Russians, Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' Fighting First will add another record to its resounding list by being the first major U. S. fighting force in Europe to transfer to the Pacific.

The war department announced last night that the 1st was already "on the move"—to the Pacific via the U. S. A.

This presumably meant that advance units had embarked from France for the United States where they will be given furloughs before going on to help finish the job in the Pacific.

Naturally it will take some time to move an entire army, which may number somewhere around 250,000 to 300,000 men. However troops for the Pacific war have high priorities on transoceanic transport.

A token return of the victorious First army to American soil will take place this Thursday when Hodges, accompanied by six of his generals, 15 to 20 lower officers and 24 G. I.'s will arrive in Atlanta, Ga.

The war department said that the divisions and corps that go to Japan will not "necessarily" be the same as those that fought in Germany, though all divisions are being brought back to the U. S.

However, it added, "enough veteran units and veteran personnel will take the field under General Hodges to insure the same vigorous assault against the Japanese as was made against the Germans."

This was the first definite word that Hodges himself would fight in the Pacific. Presumably most of his crack officers will go with him to join the three other armies already in the Pacific theatre, the 6th and 8th in the Philippines under Gen. Douglas MacArthur's combined command and the 10th on Okinawa under Adm. Chester Nimitz' overall jurisdiction.

Many of the men now in the 1st army with sufficient points for discharge will be separated from units to be sent to the Pacific before those units leave Europe. (Continued on Page Two)

HOPE FOR EARLY ADJOURNMENT OF ASSEMBLY FADES

COLUMBUS, May 22—Hope that the Ohio General Assembly would be able to adjourn sine die by mid-June faded today after house floor action on the controversial Daniels-Cramer school bill was postponed for at least another week.

Meanwhile, Sen. Albert A. Daniels, R., Jackson, chairman of the senate finance committee, said his committee would not be able to take up the $391,499,696 biennial appropriations bill before next Monday because of other matters before the committee.

There also was a possibility that the entire legislative program might be delayed at least a week as house and senate leaders considered a suggestion that the legislature adjourn all of next week because Wednesday is Memorial Day.

House Speaker Jackson E. Betts, R., Hancock, said action on the school bill was postponed because of the opposition of several members of the rules committee. The bill originally was scheduled to come up in the house for a vote this week.

SOLONS BACKING UNIFORM LAWS

Supreme Court Ruling On Divorce Spurs Action For New Legislation

WASHINGTON, May 22—The supreme court's newest divorce ruling today spurred congressional supporters of a uniform federal divorce law.

The high court, by a vote of 6 to 3 yesterday, gave all states the right to invalidate divorces of its residents obtained in other states.

The black-robed justices differed among themselves as to the effect of the decision. Justice Hugo L. Black, in a lengthy dissenting opinion, declared the decision would subject the nation's entire 5,000,000 divorced persons to "the danger of criminal prosecution."

However Justice Frank Murphy, concurring with the majority, asserted all uncontested divorces were as secure as ever.

GOV. LAUSCHE SAYS HE WILL 'MOIDER DE BUM'

COLUMBUS, May 22—The repeated boasts of Bob Hope that Gov. Frank J. Lausche was afraid to meet him in a golf match drew a fiery response from the governor today as he accepted the comedian's challenge to meet on the fairway Sunday.

"I'll moider the bum," the governor said after reversing his previous decision to decline Hope's invitation because of a previous engagement.

The match, an exhibition game for the benefit of wounded war veterans, will be played at Cleveland's Aeolian Country Club Sunday afternoon. Bing "Going My Way" Crosby and Henry Picard, professional golfer at the Canterbury Club, Cleveland, also will participate.

Lausche said he had accepted Hope's challenge after learning that Hope was boasting about scaring him out of the game. "He claims that I'm afraid of him," the governor said with a laugh. But Lausche had other ideas as he pointed out that he had beaten Hope repeatedly in the past. Lausche, incidentally, shoots in the 70's.

After the match the governor will fly to Newark for a Memorial Day service, the previous engagement with which he earlier tried to give Hope the brush-off.

ALLIED FORCES GAIN ON FOUR ISLAND FRONTS

Navy Planes Renew Assaults On Jap Shipping; Daily Raids Pay Dividends

168,380 TONS STOPPED

Adm. Nimitz Reports 21 Jap Planes Destroyed; Wewak Airfield Captured

Reinforced American troops battled into the main fortifications of Shuri on southern Okinawa today as other Allied forces gained in four island campaigns and U. S. Navy planes renewed assaults on enemy shipping.

Almost due west of Okinawa and the American-held Kerama islands, Chinese forces on the mainland reopened the Min river from the east China sea to a point 40 miles above recently recaptured Fochow.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz disclosed that Navy bombers up to yesterday had sunk or damaged 168,380 tons of enemy shipping in a series of almost daily sweeps from Okinawa over Japanese and Korean waters. The fleet air wing also destroyed 21 Japanese planes and damaged 15.

Three American divisions steadily tightened a pincer around Shuri, central stronghold of the bitterly defended Japanese line. The city was flanked on the east and west and Americans were fighting to complete its encirclement.

The Japanese defenders continued fanatical resistance and ceaseless counter-attacks, often donning uniforms of dead American Marines and using captured weapons to confuse the U. S. forces.

Troops of the 77th division captured the town of Taira-Maichi, one of the main fortifications north of Shuri in a surprise attack Monday morning.

Other troops on Okinawa opened a power drive down the east coast toward the port Yonabaru which had been partly evacuated. At the west end of the line, Marines strengthened their positions in the northern part of Naha, the capital, and struck from Sugar Loaf hill toward the northeast section.

On Mindanao in the Philippines American troops advanced 10 miles to the edge of Malaybalay agricultural center in the middle of the island. Only 25 miles to the north, other units advanced four miles to reach the village of Maluko.

On Luzon, the Americans wiped out last Japanese pockets south of the main highway from Novaliches to the Ipo dam. In the Cagayan valley to the north, other troops continued to push the enemy back on Santa Fe.

Australian and Dutch troops fanned out on Tarakan island off East Borneo to consolidate their control of most of the island.

CHICAGO TRUCKS MAY BE SEIZED BY GOVERNMENT

CHICAGO, May 22—Government seizure of Chicago trucking facilities appeared imminent today after members of the independent Chicago truck drivers union voted to continue a strike crippling food and war material distribution.

Army officers stood ready to take over, under Office of Defense transportation supervision, operation of an estimated 10,000 trucks idled by the six-day work stoppage, result of a wage dispute.

By a standing vote, some 4,000 independent drivers last night decided not to heed a War Labor Board ultimatum that they and 2,500 other strikers go back to work under threat of truck lines seizure, requested by operators.

The strikers' action also disregarded WLB threats to cancel draft deferments of essential drivers and to nullify a retroactive pay award granted last week under a compromise settlement.

FIRST ARMY TO LEAD AMERICANS INTO PACIFIC

Hodges' Unit To Be First Major Force In Europe To Be Sent East

They will be replaced by men—presumably from other American armies in Europe—who have too few points for discharge.

This means that men getting out of the 1st army will have to wait their turn to come home with other men being discharged and won't be among the ranks of 1st army troops arriving here en route to the Pacific.

All troops stopping here en route to the Pacific will get furloughs, though the war department didn't say how long.

The war department did not mention other armies destined to go to the Pacific. However, others will undoubtedly follow Hodges' lead. Gen. George S. Patton's powerful 3rd army is a likely choice to be among the first. There are now six U. S. armies in Europe—the 1st, 3rd, 5th, 7th, 8th and the new 15th army of occupation.

The war department paid tribute to the first major force it is moving down the road from Berlin toward Tokyo.

"The fighting record of the 1st army," it said, "ranks with the proudest in the Allied expeditionary forces."

Although the army as a whole did not enter combat until the invasion of France several of its units took part in the original landings in North Africa, Sicily and Italy.

"Troops of the first army parachuted into France before H-hour on D-day, led the way across the German frontier, broke through the Siegfried line, seized and established the Remagen bridgehead and were the first to make junction with the Russians at the Elbe," the war department said.

"Hundreds of thousands of Germans were killed or captured by the 1st army in its battles across France, Belgium and Germany."

Among its laurels are the Normandy breakthrough made in conjunction with Patton's 3rd army, the capture of Paris, the capture of Aachen, holding the northern shoulder of the German Ardennes breakthrough last winter, the capture of Cologne, the surrounding of the Ruhr together with the 9th army and the seizure of the famous Remagen bridgehead—first Allied crossing of the Rhine in World War II.

WATERS WANTS WARDENS TO HAVE MORE AUTHORITY

COLUMBUS, May 22—State Conservation Commissioner Don Waters today advocated that game wardens be eligible to operate on a state-wide basis instead of one county.

Waters said that the recommended new program would put the men on civil service rolls "to improve the high caliber of men."

The state conservation commission approved a report requesting $68,500 for conservation expenditures from July 1 until June 30, 1946.

AAF BOMBARDIER IS SPEAKER AT KIWANIS CLUB

Circleville Kiwanians went through training and flew several missions with a bombardier of the U. S. Army Air Forces at the meeting Monday night at the Country Club.

Speaker was Capt. Don Malloy, Dayton, veteran of 50 missions in Africa, Sicily and Italy, who is now an instructor at Lockbourne Army Air Base.

Capt. Malloy, who wears the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with silver and bronze clusters, purple heart ribbon, American Patrol Ribbon and other decorations, told listeners of his experiences in U. S. training camps and exciting and interesting experiences while fighting the Germans.

He started training in the infantry March 7, 1941, transferred to the Air Corps November 7, 1941, and took off for overseas from West Palm Beach, Florida, in December, 1942.

The speaker was introduced by Capt. J. C. Burris, public relations officer at Lockbourne, who was presented by C. E. Hill, program chairman for the meeting.

Another military guest at the meeting was Lt. Edward Ebert, also a guest was R. E. Brown.

Joseph Horst won the quiz program. Dan McCall distributed tickets for the official opening of Ted Lewis park Memorial Day to members who agreed to sell them.

Since the early days of the war.

Patrol bombers from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces sank three Japanese freighters in forays over the China sea and bombed the island outpost of Pratas, west of Palawan in the Philippines.

Radio Tokyo reported a lone B-29 flew over the Japanese capital yesterday and dropped leaflets designed "to destroy the fighting spirit of the people."

Mopping up operations continued in Burma. A British launch sank five patrol craft full of Japanese over the Kokkwa river 20 miles northwest of Rangoon. Japanese counter-attacks were repulsed east of Tounghoo.

GERMAN ASSETS AND PROPERTY FROZEN BY AMG

PARIS, May 22—All property and assets of German nationals living in the occupation zone held by the western Allies have been frozen by the Allied military government, with a maximum living allowance of 500 marks ($50) monthly for each family.

The freeze order, headquarters announced, applies to all Germans regardless of their politics or civil or social rank.

Under its provisions, the head of a family will be permitted to use 30 marks ($3) a month from his bank deposits or other assets as a living allowance, plus 50 marks ($5) for each dependent, up to a maximum of 500 marks.

Headquarters spokesmen explained that the financial freeze is similar to the curfew and other regulatory decrees issued in the opening stages of the occupation and will be lightened as circumstances warrant.

ened in pace when the first shots were fired. We bought all offerings. The countries wanted to sell for fear their holdings might be seized by the enemy.

There were strings attached to some of our purchases. We agreed to sell the gold back to some nations if they so chose.

Meanwhile, with most U. S. output going into war channels we were unable to pay for imported goods with manufactures as we had previously. Payment was made in gold. Some of the gold purchased by other nations with dollar balances here has actually been shipped, mostly to South American countries.

With the war over in Europe and possibility of greater production for uses other than war, the treasury believes that the gold stockpile will sink in size little, if any, further. Rather, it is believed, it will begin to rise soon if goods can be produced to sell to countries with earmarked gold here.

"With some good management it will come back as strong as ever," a treasury official said.

Lend-Lease Necessary, Truman Says

been shifted to the Pacific. The Soviets are neutral there.

This was partly attributable to the fact that the report covered only up to the end of March. The war in Europe ended in May.

Since March, because of the end of the European war, the bulk of Russia's $300,000,000 - a - month lend-lease deliveries have been suspended. Work has begun on a 45-percent reduction in the flow of lend-lease aid to the British commonwealth. Additional reductions are in the making in lend-lease programs with other Allies.

The President said the vast mutual aid program must continue "on the scale required to build the overwhelming power which alone can save American and Allied lives and bring an early and complete end to this terrible war."

He said both the European and Pacific wars had been "immeasurably shortened" by lend-lease and reverse lend-lease.

The report said more than 98 percent of this nation's vast lend-lease contribution had gone to the four major allies—Britain, Russia, France and China.

It listed Britain's share as $12,775,000,000 to the United Kingdom, $1,257,000,000 to Australia and New Zealand, and a large part of the $5,836,000,000 which has gone to the Africa-Middle East-Mediterranean area and the China-India section.

Russia received $8,409,000,000 in lend-lease up to March 31. Additional deliveries to the Soviets before the recent suspension pushed Russia's total close to the $9,000,000,000.

In the case of Russia and Britain, these figures included huge shipments of the munitions which crushed Nazi Germany such as: United Kingdom—9,500 airplanes, millions of dollars worth of engines and plane parts, hundreds of transports for carrying heavy equipment, hundreds of amphibious craft which helped British troops cross the Rhine, 13,371,000,000 pounds of American food and hundreds of tanks and guns.

Russia—13,300 airplanes, 6,800 tanks, 312,000 tons of explosives, 1,800 self-propelled guns, 135,000 sub-machine guns, 13,000 pistols and 8,300 other guns of various types. More than 400,000 U. S. lend-lease motor vehicles provided mobility for the Red army.

Russia also has received 1,500 locomotives, 9,800 flat cars, 1,000 dump cars, 100 tank cars, 540,000 tons of railroad rails, 116,000 tons of railroad wheels and axles, 397,000 field telephones and more than 1,050,000 miles of field telephone cable.

Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew hinted last week that Russia would continue to get some lend-lease but said that "substantial reductions" would be made.

FEA reported that lend-lease provided Latin American countries with $226,000,000 worth of goods for purposes vital to the U. S. war effort. Some $805,025,000 has been scattered among other countries.

It said four countries of the British empire had provided United States armed forces with $4,656,315,000 in reverse lend-lease through last December—the United Kingdom, $3,352,000,000; Australia, $720,000,000; New Zealand, $171,000,000 and India, $411,000,000.

60 To 100 Men Die Daily In Freed Dachau Prison

mate, a surgeon from Czechoslovakia. He said many of the men doomed to die might be saved if three things could be provided:

First, three times as many medical personnel. Second, twice as many medical supplies. And third, a means of taking the worst cases to real hospitals where special treatment would be available.

Dr. Flaha said that American medical authorities stationed nearby are "cooperating to the utmost" but there just are not enough men, equipment, or places to take the patients. In any event, most of the cases left by the Nazis were too far gone to be saved no matter what was done for them.

Conference To Set Up Interim Commission To Plan New League Meeting

ing of a charter in about two weeks," Sen. Tom Connally, D., Tex., member of the U. S. delegation, also thought adjournment could come in from two to three weeks.

Most of the problems involving reconciliation among the big powers have been settled—sufficiently so that Stettinius is leaving here this week to spend a day or two in Washington with President Truman and state department officials. He said he would consult on a wide variety of diplomatic problems, none of which was related to this conference.

Here is a summary of latest major conference developments:

Another Latin American squabble—some U. S. delegates are worried about apparent determination of some Latin American countries to oppose the big veto in the security council. These U. S. delegates, who don't like all aspects of the voting formula either, had hoped the Latin Americans would go easy on this issue after getting virtually what they wanted on regional arrangements.

The big five veto—the conference debating this hot potato is waiting the report of a subcommittee which was ordered to outline a series of questions for the big four to answer about the Yalta voting formula. The little nations are trying to get the big ones at least to abandon their veto over arrangements for peaceful settlement of disputes.

Australia is leading the campaign and has called on the big three repeatedly to review their decision. Trusteeships—American officials are optimistic about coming out with a system very much along the lines they want and with one that will receive wholehearted approval of congress. The major difficulty with the Russians on this is that they want to spell out the details more than the Americans believe possible or wise. It was understood that the Russians have given some indication that they will not make a last ditch fight on their proposals.

Regional issue—conference action on the big five compromise for linking the western hemisphere and world systems was blocked 24 hours by another regional bloc—the Arab league. Speaking for the Arabs, Egypt said they agreed in principle but wanted time to study the plan.

Neutrals—France, Russia and some Latin American countries are pressing for adoption of amendments which would close the door forever to such governments as that of Spanish Gen. Francisco Franco and prohibit admission of neutrals like Sweden and Switzerland until they have abandoned their "ostrich-like" roles as perpetual neutrals.

ed for enactment of uniform legal procedures regarding divorce. Immediately Sen. Arthur Capper, R., Kan., announced he would resume his fight for a federal law covering divorces in all 48 states "in the very near future."

A constitutional amendment would be required, since the constitution gives to the states all rights and powers not specifically granted to congress. Congress was not authorized to rule on marriage and divorce.

Capper's proposed amendment to federalize divorce laws has been dormant in the senate judiciary committee for several years. The Kansas said the supreme court's decision was "absolutely sound."

He said he believed the attitude of the country regarding divorce laws already had changed.

In the house rep. Homer A. Ramey, R., O., was less optimistic about the chance for early action on his proposed amendment to allow congress to make uniform marriage and divorce laws.

He noted that the senate judiciary committee had put off consideration of constitutional amendments until after the war. Consequently, he said, the house judiciary committee to which his proposal had been referred had decided it "would be foolish to take any action one way or the other."

LIVING COSTS UP 4 PER CENT DURING APRIL

NEW YORK, May 22—(UP)—Living costs for the average family of wage earners and lower-salaried clerical workers in the United States rose 0.4 per cent in April to a 20-year peak, the national industrial conference board announced today.

The board's April index stood at 105.8 (1923 equals 100), 23 per cent above January, 1941, the base month of the little steel formula. April living costs were 1.5 per cent higher than a year ago.

Food, clothing, and sundry costs increased during the month while fuel and light costs declined and housing costs remained unchanged. The purchasing power of the dollar, in terms of 1923 goods, was 94.5 cents in April compared with 96 cents a year ago.

WITHDRAWAL OF FRENCH TROOPS IS DEMANDED

LONDON, May 22—The new political crisis in the Levant moved toward a showdown today as Syrian and Lebanese leaders demanded immediate withdrawal of French troops from their territories.

Dispatches from the Middle East said spokesmen for the two former French mandates accused France of trying to impose military and economic demands on Syria and Lebanon by force of arms.

Syrian Foreign Minister Jamil Mardam told a meeting of parliament in Damascus yesterday that French troops had been sent into the Levant to enforce demands for naval bases in Lebanon, air bases in Syria, and "most favored nation" treatment in the economic field.

Similar protests against the French stand were voiced in Lebanese government quarters. Foreign Minister Henry Pharaon was expected to join Syria today in requesting the withdrawal of French troops.

Count Carlo Sforza, Italian political leader, appeared to Yugoslavians over the Italian radio to consider the "advantages of cordial relations with Italy." He said he always had fought for a "deep and fertile understanding with France and Yugoslavia."

Radio Belgrade quoted Borba, a Communist daily newspaper in the Yugoslav capital, as saying that Yugoslavia had no intention of annexing territories unilaterally before the peace conference or before an agreement between Italy and Yugoslavia.

The new Yugoslav telegraph service later denied, however, that this necessarily represented the attitude of the Yugoslav government. The station reported only the "incompetent and even incorrect" comments of the Belgrade press, the agency said.

Tito was in Zagreb, liberated capital of Croatia. The Yugoslav home radio said he spoke on national reconstruction and need for unity in the Trieste crisis, but the text of his 70-minute speech was not available.

matic developments. He estimated 60,000 Yugoslav troops were in the Trieste-Gorizia area.

A high Allied officer at Udine told Murray, however, that he was optimistic over chances of settling the dispute without hostilities and without abandonment of the strong Allied stand.

The officer said the western allies were determined not to open hostilities despite their insistence that Marshal Tito withdraw Yugoslav forces from the province. Tito already has withdrawn his troops from Austrian Carinthia, which Yugoslavia also claims.

CLEAN-UP DAY AT CEMETERY IS SUGGESTED

Forest cemetery officials Monday appealed to lot owners to help get the cemetery in condition for Memorial day.

They said that because of the rainy weather and shortage of help it will be impossible for them to mow and clean all lots before Memorial day. They suggested that since Wednesday is a half-holiday for store workers that it be designated as clean-up day at the cemetery.

Officials ask all who can to mow and clean their own lots. The grass and flower containers may be placed along the road and will be removed later.

FOOD RATIONS TO BE CUT AGAIN IN BRITISH ISLES

LONDON, May 22—Reductions in British food rations were expected to be announced tomorrow in an effort to cope with increasing food shortages.

Informed quarters said the reductions would affect meats primarily. It was believed that Food Minister Col. J. J. Llewellyn, who is scheduled to announce the cuts, would curtail supplies to restaurants, hotels, boarding houses and industrial canteens before reducing home consumption foodstuffs.

There was hope that the meat ration would not be reduced more than a penny. The present ration is 14 pence (about 23 cents) per person weekly.

NEWSPAPER HONOR

WHENEVER newspaper men get together these days the case of the reporter who broke prematurely the story of the German surrender comes up for discussion. He is usually defended on several grounds, chiefly those he named afterward—namely that military security was not involved, that he tried to tell the general who had pledged them to secrecy his purpose to file, that the German radio had already broadcast the news, and that General Eisenhower had given the cease-fire order to his troops. But when all is said to explain and excuse, the general opinion is voiced that he did make a pledge and he broke it. And if newspaper men are not bound by their own individual honor to keep their pledges, to make, in the old phrase, "their word as good as their bond," then the whole newspaper business is ruined. No longer is it a great public service, but merely a catch-as-catch-can keyhole business, distrusted, and rightly so, by decent citizens.

In peace as in war, there are many cases where a newsman can be given advance information on condition of holding it for a definite release. Without his release pledge, he could not get the information at all. With it, he has accurate knowledge, can get his story written and be ready to jump with it when the word is given. Keeping faith with his sources is part of the job, as much as the doctor's or lawyer's respect of client confidence.

The fact that newspaper men feel this keenly is reassuring to all. One big release was broken—an exception to the rule. But the standards of the profession are high. The honor of its members is sacred, their word worthy of trust.

FUTURE PREPAREDNESS

IT is a famous French tradition that "the Old Guard dies, but never surrenders." The Nazi Germans, in their present situation, are not so valiant. They devote all their efforts now to avoiding the death they so richly deserve, on the well known principle that "he who fights and runs away will live to fight another day."

The indications are that those dangerous and reactionary militarists learn nothing and forget nothing, but will "go underground" and start preparations for another great war a generation from now, in which they will try to be better prepared and strike more quickly and surely.

Against that German peril, as against the Japanese peril, the law-abiding nations will have to be everlastingly prepared.

The San Francisco conference might take as its guide the remark of the English essayist Gilbert K. Chesterton: "I do not believe in a fate that falls on men however they act, but I do believe in a fate that falls on them unless they act."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 22—Here is the story no one could get at San Francisco—the inside story of why Sidney Hillman, Russian labor, and leftists of British trade unions happened to assemble their new world labor order on Oakland, across the bay, just at the very day of the opening of the world peace conference, and what they were up to.

All inquiries were pushed aside out there with the explanation that this new world labor power, called the world trade union congress, was merely looking for reflected publicity from its proximity to the conference, or something similarly inconsequential.

It is no wonder the story was hidden securely beneath a rubble of confusing explanations because it would have disclosed a coup de conference planned by Mr. Hillman and his Russian associates—a coup which was squelched completely in a secret meeting of the conference steering committee, despite intervention by no less a power than Molotov himself. These are the facts:

The Oakland labor assembly was completely under control of Hillman and the Russians, with the British riding quietly behind them. The head of the Russian labor delegation at Oakland was also an official delegate for Russia in the San Francisco peace meeting and the pipeline between.

Through him the Hillman crowd worked up a program whereby they would all get into the conference and into the permanent peace setup by being established as the group to handle world labor problems.

They succeeded in getting the economic committee of the conference to approve their entry as consultants. The economic committee includes strong representation of smaller nations, particularly Latin America.

A resolution carrying out this purpose was handed by the economic committee to the steering committee which is composed of all nations. After some warm discussion, that guiding committee of the conference decided it would not even go into the matter thoroughly and defeated the resolution.

When Hillman saw this coming he got Molotov to champion his cause, and it was the Russian foreign minister who pressed the matter as far as it went in the steering committee.

By his own adroitness, Hillman thus out-slicked himself and disclosed his hand. That Molotov would champion his cause was all too obvious evidence to everyone on the inside that their fears and suspicions about Hillman's trade union congress had solid ground—that it was more Russian than worldly.

A few days later the Oakland meeting quietly adjourned without taking any noticeable action and Mr. Hillman went off to southern California for a rest.

The frustration of the coup represented a victory for Bill Green, the AFL president, who has been vigorously fighting Hillman's attempt since the last election to establish with the communist a world labor front.

Green demanded in resolutions passed by his executive council (May 8) that world labor be represented in the future world order by the international labor of-

Helpful Treatment for Gout

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

AN ATTACK of pain in the first joint of the big toe is usually produced by the disease known as gout. This pain oftentimes develops in the early morning. The joint becomes red or a dusky pink color, is swollen and very tender. In practically all cases of gout, there is an increase in the amount of uric acid in the blood.

An attack of gout may be brought on by operations, over-exercise, overeating, and the use of excessive amounts of alcoholic beverages, of liver extract or of too much of the vitamin B preparations, according to Doctor Henry P. Wright of Montreal.

Twinge of Pain

Before the severe attack of gout occurs, there may be slight twinges of pain in the small joints of the fingers and toes, restlessness, irritability and indigestion. Inflammation of the joints, which is worse at night than during the day, and which disappears quickly, should be suspected as being due to gout.

A definite diagnosis of gout may be made by X-ray examination of the bones, especially those of the fingers and toes. There is another test which consists of giving a drug known as colchicine in sufficient dose. If this drug relieves the pain it is probable that the condition is due to gout.

Damage to Heart

If gout is promptly diagnosed and properly treated, the attack usually quickly subsides, but if the condition is allowed to become chronic, not only will the pain continue but there also may be some damage to the heart and kidneys. The treatment consists of rest in bed, proper diet and the giving of colchicine, according to Doctor Wright. A diet suggested by him consists of fruit or fruit juice, white bread and milk for breakfast; cereal other than whole wheat, milk, eggs, stewed fruit, white toast and butter for lunch; and cereal, milk, honey, stewed fruit, white bread and butter for supper. Between meals the patient should be encouraged to take large quantities of an alkaline water. The colchicine is administered every two hours.

Hot Wet Packs

The application of hot wet packs to the affected joints may also give some relief. Aspirin or sodium salicylate will help to reduce the amount of uric acid in the blood as well as to relieve pain. Moderate exercise and plenty of fresh air are beneficial. There are certain foods which should not be eaten by persons subject to gout. These consist of sweetbreads, sardines, anchovies, liver, kidneys, brains, meat extracts, pork, goose, sausage and codfish. These foods are high in a substance from which uric acid is formed.

Remember that gout can be a serious disease if it is neglected. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
I. G.—Would an occasional breaking of the skin and slight matter in the navel be a sign to be investigated?

Answer:—This condition should be investigated. However, it is not serious. It is usually due to an infection. You should consult your physician concerning the proper treatment.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

Lucienne was waiting in the Palm Room, sitting at a window table, sipping her sherry. She wore a black woolen frock, exquisitely cut to bring out the best features of her slender body. She had a black choker on her golden head, tipped at a rakish angle, and a short mink cape over her shoulders.

"My dear," Gail said, as she sat down opposite her. "You already look like the smartest young lady in town."

Compared to Lucienne, Gail felt rather middle-aged and dowdy, suddenly conscious of the unfashionable length of her brown tweed skirt which she'd meant to have shortened. She pulled down the cuffs of her bottle-green silk shirt. "I suppose you've all been rushed to death, getting ready for the wedding?"

Lucienne looked down at the diamond ring on her left hand. "We certainly have been! Of course, Agnes insists everything is under control, but there are still a million things to do! Look at this!" She took out a long list from her black suede bag. "I have to go to the florist to decide on my bouquet. Then the Vogue Shop is redoing my veil—it was my own mother's, you know. And my going-away suit isn't finished. Do you think a light green too summery?"

"I don't think so," Gail said, amusedly. "You'll wear it under a fur coat, won't you?"

"Yes, daddy is giving me a new Persian lamb." Lucienne smiled impishly. "Agnes says I'm too young for Persian—but she said the same thing about this mink cape."

They ate their lunch; bouillon, sole, green salad and fruit compote. For once, Lucienne paid little attention to the food. She was too busy chatting.

"Mr. Niles is giving Ralph a fortnight's vacation—even though they're short of doctors at the hospital. So we're going to have a real honeymoon! We've made reservations for a ranch out in Tucson. The season hasn't really begun out there, so it'll be almost deserted. Father is getting up seats on a plane, he can get almost anything, even with the war on! Gosh, it's going to be wonderful for Ralph! He'll learn to ride—"

"Oh, doesn't he ride?"

Lucienne missed the sardonic note in Gail's voice. "No," she replied. "Ralph has worked so hard, you know. He's never had time for any fun!"

After lunch, Gail accompanied Lucienne on a shopping expedition. Other brides—war brides—might be planning simple weddings, receiving practical gifts. But not Lucienne. . . . Finally Lucienne said,

"Let's run down to the factory a minute. I want to see daddy." They were stopped at the gate of the Thayer Jelke plant, but the guard let them through after recognizing Lucienne, and after cautioning them: "No smoking, please. They're putting in storage drums near the new wing."

They were shown to Howard's office. "Mr. Thayer is in the plant. He'll be back in a few minutes," his secretary said.

Howard Thayer came in soon, a shy, pleased smile on his gray face. Lucienne jumped up and kissed him heartily. She went on talking about her plans, and he sat in his chair, beaming at her.

When Lucienne paused for breath, Gail said, "Howard, is it possible to get a report on one of your men?"

"I think so," he answered. "Which one?"

"A young fellow by the name of John Sermalino. As a matter of fact, I got you to give him a job."

"Anything wrong with him?"

"A lot of things," she said gravely, "but I don't know whether anything can be done about it."

The report told her that Johnny was a pretty good worker, but was given to sullen moods, and insolent to his superiors. He had twice been reprimanded for smoking. There was nothing about his physical condition.

"I'm interested in his child," Gail explained. "His wife is working here too, now, and the little girl is neglected."

Normally, Howard would have said, "Is there something I can do?" But his mind was on something else.

For as they got up to leave, he beckoned Gail to stay, while Lucienne went into the outer office to phone.

"It is rather fortunate that you dropped in," Howard said. "I—I had been planning to call you."

She was filled with premature fear. "Why about it?"

His face flooded with color. "It's about your position as Health Officer in Springfield. You see the Women's Club has been discussing it, and they are—well, of the opinion that a man would be more suited for the job. I'm very sorry, Gail."

She stared at him, dumbly. All of her fine ideas, the Milk Fund, the Day Nursery, the Playgrounds, gone. It couldn't be true. They couldn't take away her last bulwark!

There was nothing left for her in Beauchamp. She was no better off than Lily Lanahan. Except that she had Burke.

Burke was working hard. He expected to be called up any day and he wanted his affairs in order. He had been commissioned a captain and, though his mother asserted she was proud of her brave son, she was often in hysterics. So Burke felt it his duty to stay at home and comfort her.

Gail hadn't seen him for three days. But early Saturday morning, she got a call from him.

"Gail!" His voice was tense, but excited. "I've got my orders. I'm due in Louisiana, Fort Martin, Monday morning!"

"Monday morning!"

"That means I've only today to get ready. I'll have to shove off to-night. Gail, I'll be over at noon!"

She was in the kitchen with Katie when he turned up. He sat on a kitchen stool and ate a cookie and drank a glass of milk, and talked.

"I've had a heck of a time with the tailor. My uniforms weren't supposed to be finished until Tuesday, but I made them step on it!"

Watching him, Gail was reminded of a small boy on his way to summer camp. He was really looking forward to Army life. It meant a respite from business cares, from a loving and nagging mother and—from Gail?

No, that was unfair. For now he motioned Gail to the sitting room, away from Katie's curious ears.

"I called the Commissioner before I came over here," he said. "The license will be ready. We'll get married this afternoon."

Married! Gail and Burke to be married this afternoon.

She moved away from his arms to the window. She looked out into the dead garden.

Married. . . . She turned around. "Oh, Burke—" she cried.

At ten o'clock that evening, Union Station was not crowded. As Gail came in she saw Burke immediately standing at the Information Desk, handsome and impressive in his new uniform. Beside him, his mother seemed shorter, plumper, and more helpless than ever. . . .

Gail piled her load of magazines and a box of cookies into his arms. "I don't know whether it is the correct thing—sending a captain off with a box of cookies. But Katie insisted—"

"Why you never eat them at home, Burke," his mother said reproachfully. "Now'd be delighted to bake anything you like. I'll mail you some things on Monday—"

"Take it easy, mother," he begged.

"I'll miss you so," she went on. She was holding on to his arm, and a magazine fell down, eluding his grasp. Gail picked it up and said embarrassedly, "I'm afraid I got just about every magazine on the stand. You'll never finish them before you get to camp."

PSYCHING FOR A LEAD

MAKING a third-hand psychic bid, of a suit in which you are blank, may have a double objective. Its primary purpose, of course, when your own holding is weak, is to obstruct the opponents and complicate their job of getting into the right declaration. If they wind up in the best spot, however, and it happens to be some other suit, a double by you will virtually compel a thinking partner to lead the suit you had psyched, enabling you to get a trick by ruffing.

South's double of the 1-Spade bid made it clear as a bell to West, with his five spades, that his partner, a wily strategist, had perpetrated a psychic bid of the suit, and the situation was confirmed when East then took himself out into his escape suit of clubs.

Add to that the final fact of East doubling the 6-Diamonds, and West was certain his partner was counting on a spade lead. He led the 5 of the suit, East ruffed and the heart K beat the contract.

South said after the hand that his redoubt was a more or less frantic effort to try to make West think he did not fear a spade lead, but the try was worse than futile. All it accomplished was to increase the score made by his opponents.

Another of South's observations was that he considered taking out the double of 6-Diamonds into 6-Spades, so that a ruff of the opening trick would be impossible. North said he thought of that, too, but was afraid to try it with only two spades; if he had held one more, he might have done it, because he, too, saw through East's scheme to get a ruff. It would have done the side no good, however, with West holding five spades to the 10-9.

WASHINGTON Report

Vice Presidential Status | Thinks No. 2 Man Should
Should Be Changed—Essary | Know President's Business

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—You don't need a pair of glasses to see that some sharply needed pieces of government reorganization should grow out of the chaos of this war.

For instance, I should like to direct the first piece of reorganization to the vice presidency.

It is really about time the vice presidency be given the power and prestige it requires—for the good of the nation. To date, in this wide-spread, boastful Democracy, the vice presidency has been a sort of comic supplement to the presidency. It has been an office about which to make vaudeville jokes and giddy songs.

Of course you remember "Throttletbottom" in "Of Thee I Sing."

And also that "What the country needs is a good five-cent cigar" quip of Thomas Marshall's. The quip was said to be the outstanding accomplishment of Mr. Marshall's two-term tenure of office.

Henry Wallace tried to be an active vice president. Whatever he undertook was generally viewed with a half smile. Not because of Henry Wallace, himself. But because a vice president—a harmless vice president—was trying to give the impression that his office amounted to a row of pins.

When Mr. Truman was vice president, he sought to be an active liaison officer between the United States Senate, of which he had so lately been a member, and the White House. How well this plan would have succeeded is doubtful. For it has been the custom of presidents of the United States to act as if their vice presidents were not there at all.

According to the laws of this generous but sometimes flighty

America, it has been customary to give the vice president a seat as presiding officer of the Senate and a nice new gavel. With this he could bang away for "order!" when the gentlemen of the Senate got too noisy. That has been about all the poor vice president could do—except to attend parties. If, however, he was seen at parties, people said he was light-minded. And what a contrast to the president!

Yet from the beginning of the country, this man, whose office we have failed to take seriously, has been the second most important man in the government. Never before has the importance of the vice presidency been so evident as today.

A few weeks ago a president died. A president who had been something of a president of the world, who had dealt not only in the lives of millions of people but in the political and physical lives of nations. And the man who had been "just the vice president" inherited the stupendous responsibilities of his predecessor with only a general knowledge of the plans or the commitments his predecessor had made for the safety of this country and support of the world.

My point is that all the public business of the president—and by "public" business I mean trends in policy and hopes for better adjustments here and there—should be official. They could so easily be made official if the job of the vice presidency were given the importance it desperately needs. The vice president should be the confidant of the president. It has been said a thousand times, but it remains only a phrase, that he is removed from the presidency by a heart beat.

James A. Farley recently recalled, in an interesting address, that seven times in our short history the vice president has succeeded to the presidency. Farley also mentioned 15 times when the office of vice president has become vacant. In addition to the gap left by the seven vice presidential successions to the presidency, at eight other times the country has been without a vice president because seven vice presidents have died in office and one, John C. Calhoun, resigned to become a senator.

Here, according to Farley, is a bad situation for a Republic. It gives a vice president who succeeds to the presidency, the chance to choose a secretary of state who might become president of the United States.

Mighty loose business, this vice presidency situation. Now is the time to give it proper legal standing and importance. For the sake of the country and the guidance of the heavily burdened man who may some day succeed to the post for which he has had no fair preparation.

Child's Study Club Officers Are Installed

Mrs. Pickens And Mrs. Heiskell Are Speakers

Mrs. Joseph Rooney and Mrs. Nelson Warner were hostesses to the members of the Child's Study Club when they met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Carol Morgan, East Main street.

Mrs. Morgan, president, opened the meeting by reading a poem, "First Love" and during the business period the club voted to donate $5 to the cancer clinic. Mrs. Thomas Alkire gave a report on the Spring conference which was held in Lancaster, May 10.

Officers for the coming year who were installed at this meeting were Mrs. Richard Robinson, president; Mrs. Elliot White, vice-president; Mrs. C. Ray Barnhart, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Bell, recording secretary; and Mrs. Clarence Clark, treasurer.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Robert Pickens, county health nurse, and Mrs. John Heiskell read papers that were both interesting and instructive. The subject of Mrs. Pickens' paper was "Childhood Diseases." She told her audience that the most important of all childhood diseases is whooping cough. More deaths have been caused in very young babies up to one year by this disease than any other, which brings out the importance of early immunization.

Next important as considered by the local health department is diphtheria. However, we do not dread this disease as in previous years because most mothers are modern ones and have their babies immunized as soon as prescribed by their family physician.

Next we have our well-known measles. It has been said by mothers "It isn't serious, it's only measles." This statement is not true. They can be very dangerous especially after it is thought the case is cured. There are many other children diseases which we all fear, but the one which we fear the most and which also affects adults is infantile paralysis.

The best advice to mothers that can be given is to familiarize themselves with early symptoms and to call the doctor at once. Early diagnosis and early treatment may keep a child from being a cripple for life.

Mrs. Heiskell's paper dealt with sex education of children at different ages. She said that straight, honest sex teaching, no matter what its source, will not harm any child. The pre-adolescent stage of a child is one of ripening and she likened it to the prickly burr stage of fruit when it is the most difficult to handle.

However she said that this stage soon passes and all the roughness goes with it and that reassurance should be given the child by the parents at this time. Society, according to Mrs. Heiskell, can no more lessen or remove sex misconduct or other forms of moral instability through repressive measures than it can lessen mental disease through repressive measures, as both are symptoms of situations calling for release.

Relief will come, she says when parents, teachers and welfare workers will supply an enlightening education which will paint the way to good living.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Morgan was presented a gift by the club in recognition of her work as president for the past year.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments at the close of the program.

It was announced that there would be no meetings during the summer months but that they would be resumed again in September. A children's party was planned for some time in June, the date to be announced later. The committee in charge of the party which will be a picnic to be held at Ted Lewis Park, is Mrs. F. W. Sieverts, chairman, Mrs. William Steele and Mrs. Clarence Clark.

BIG 10 MAKES FUTURE PLANS FOR CONFERENCE

CHICAGO, May 22—Athletic directors of the big ten begin a four-day meeting at Champaign, Ill., tomorrow to map the future of one of the nation's most powerful athletic conferences.

The big ten is the country's first major intercollegiate conference to meet in an effort to solve its postwar problems. The sessions will be watched by college sports leaders throughout the nation.

Expansion, returning servicemen, eligibility rules, increased participation and modernization of the pattern of intercollegiate competition will be discussed during the meeting.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, new athletic commissioner of the big ten, said, "college sports leaders everywhere have been writing me to find out what the big ten is going to do after the war."

"We hope to find out for ourselves during these meetings."

When serving fish, be careful not to break the flakes. With such fish as haddock, cod, flounder, etc., run the knife down the full length of the back fin to separate the flesh from the bone. Portions can then be divided easily. With salmon be sure to serve a little of the thick and a little of the thin flesh to each person. The middle of a fish is usually the choicest in flavor, the tail part the least so. When such fish as flounder or sole are fried, it is wiser to fillet them—that is, to remove the bone—before frying, as they are more easily served when so prepared.

LEGAL NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that the Churches of Christ in Christian Union has filed its petition in the Common Pleas Court of Pickaway County, Ohio, in cause No. 1223, praying for authority to mortgage its real estate in said county, located in Washington Township, and being known as the "Church Farm," which was purchased from the Heffner heirs, and is bounded and described as follows:
Situating in the County of Pickaway, in the State of Ohio, and in the Township of Washington and described as follows:
First Tract: Beginning at a stone in the line between the 122 1/2 acre tract of Jacob Rutter of which this is a part and Edmon Rutter's 177 acre tract in the center of Section No. 16; thence with the half section line South 85 1/2 deg. East 83 poles and 13 links to a stone in said line; thence South 2 deg. West 164 poles to a stone in another one of the lines of said 1/2 section line; thence North 85 1/2 deg. W. 83 poles and 18 links to a stone; corner between said 122 1/2 acre tract and said 177 acre tract; thence North 1 1/2 deg. East 164 poles and 6 links to the place of beginning. Containing 86 acres and 27 poles of land more or less and being a part of Section No. 14 Township No. 11 and Range No. 21 W. 8.

Second Tract: Also the east half of the southeast quarter of Section No. 16, Township No. 11, Range No. 21, Worthington's Survey, more particularly bound and described as follows: Beginning at a stone in the center of said section; thence North 87 deg. West 8 poles to a stone; thence North 3 deg. E. 163 poles and 4 links to a stone; thence S. 85 1/2 deg. E. 35-3/5 deg. poles to a stake in the County Road; thence S. 2 1/2 deg. West 122 poles and 3 links to the beginning. Containing 86 acres and 26 square rods of land more or less.

Excepting from the above described tracts of land 2.401 acres of land occupied as an easement by the State Highway for road purposes and for further and more complete description see deed Record No. 111 page 216.

Such authority to mortgage said real estate is requested for the purpose of securing a loan of money to be borrowed to assist newly organized churches of Christ in Christian Union in purchasing suitable buildings for places of worship and to be applied on the newly purchased church building in Dayton, Ohio, which is to be in the sum of $6000.00. Said cause will be for hearing on or after the 20th day of June, 1945.

BREWERS KNOCK INDIANS OUT OF AA SECOND PLACE

By United Press

Indianapolis was toppled from its second-place position in the American Association standings today by the hard-hitting Milwaukee Brewers, who took a 6 to 4 decision from the Indians in yesterday's only league game and took over the runnerup spot.

Rain washed out most of the scheduled contests, but it didn't rain soon enough for the Indians, who were two runs behind when the game was called at the end of the fifth. Credit for the victory went to Milwaukee hurler Carl Lindquist, who held Indianapolis to eight scattered hits.

Today's games: Indianapolis at Milwaukee, Louisville at Kansas City, Columbus at St. Paul and Toledo at Minneapolis.

DONNELLY WINS FOR CARDINALS

Lombardi Hits Two Homers But Giants Lose To Pittsburgh Nine

NEW YORK, May 22—Sylvester (Blix) Donnelly lacks four inches and 34 pounds of matching Morton Cooper's height and bulk, but he gave convincing evidence today that he may be able to step into the big fellow's shoes on the St. Louis Cardinal pitching staff.

The little man from Olivia, Minn., a wiry 166-pounder who stands five-feet, 10 inches tall, had been a disappointment to Manager Billy Southworth this season until he stepped out last night and handed the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4 to 0 beating on their own grounds.

That victory, coming at the end of one of the shakiest Cardinal road trips in years, may be the morale-lifter the team needs to get back into the pennant picture. It projected Donnelly into the team's pitching plans because he had all he needed to win a game—a good curve, a zipping fast ball and fine control—and he didn't tire as he usually does.

Prior to last night he had dropped four games in a row and three of them he had been hit like a batting practice pitcher. Had he failed last night Southworth might have been tempted to give up on him or relegate him to a relief role, an assignment in which he was brilliant against the Browns in the 1944 World Series.

With Max Lanier in North Carolina preparing for Army induction, Cooper under suspension and suking in St. Louis, a George Dockins being treated for arm trouble, the Cards were in desperate straits for pitchers.

Donnelly's seven-hit job gave the Cards a record of six victories and seven defeats for the trip. He struck out six men. By winning the Cards evened a score against Dodger Rookie Tom Seaver, who shut them out to win his first major league game two weeks ago. He held the Cards scoreless for five innings again last night, but they scored twice in the sixth on a single by Dave Bartosh, an error by Catcher Mickey Owen on Buster Adams' pop-up near the plate, a walk by Ray Sanders and a double by the Cards' number one clutch man, George Kuroski. Donnelly added another run on a double in the ninth when Bartosh also singled in a run.

Ernie Lombardi's two homers weren't enough to start the New York Giants off with a victory in the first stop on their road trip at Pittsburgh but they deprived Max Butcher of a shutout and he had to settle for a 5 to 2 victory.

The Pirates gave Butcher a three-run working margin in the first inning. Jack Barrett's triple and Tommy O'Brien's double producing the runs. Butcher gave up only four hits, but the two by Lombardi were tremendous blows over the long left field fence, putting him in the major league home run lead with nine. It was Butcher's third victory.

There were no other major league games scheduled.

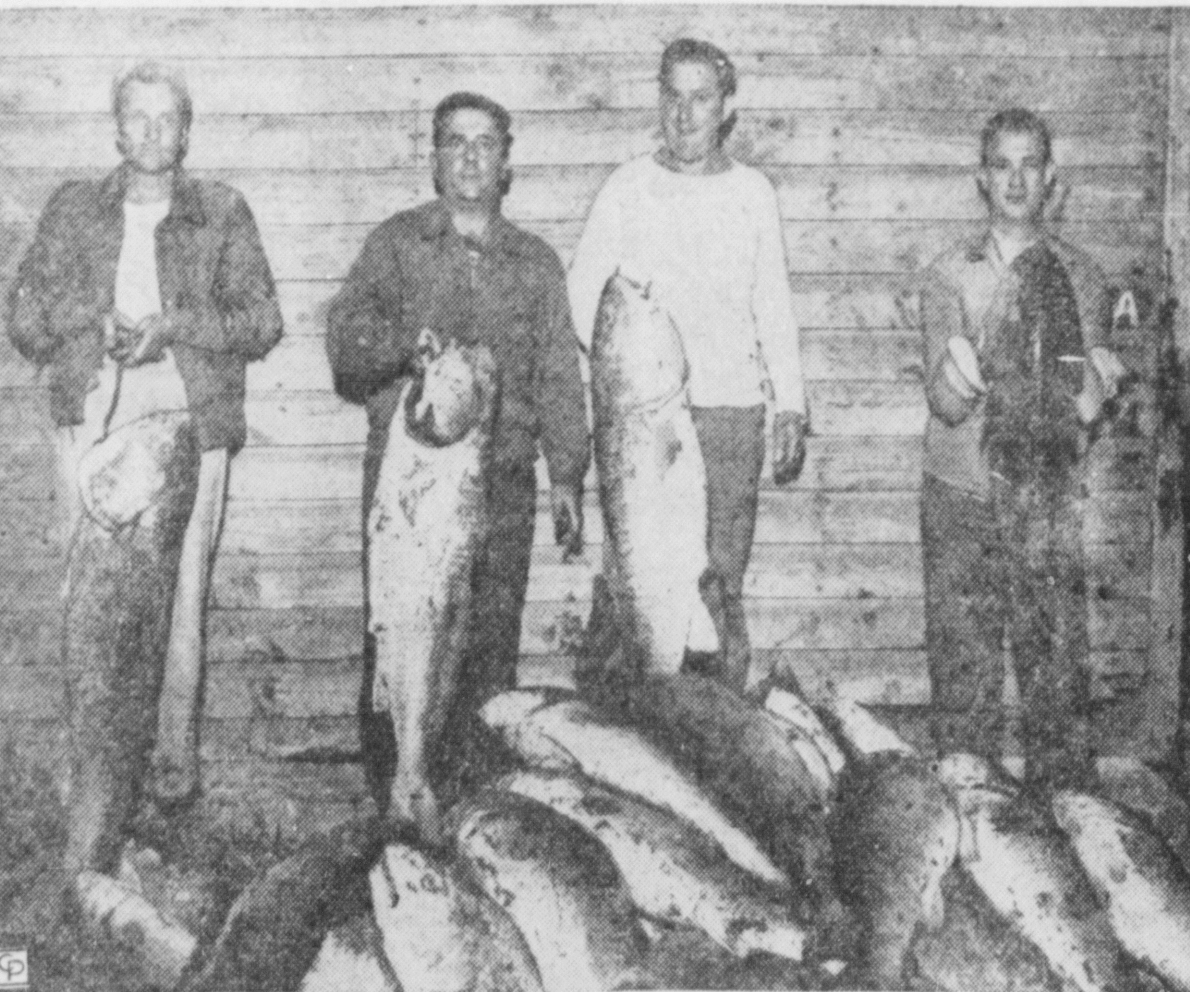

IRON SURVEY IN MONTANA

VALIER, Mont. — The United States bureau of mines will make a survey of iron ore deposits in the area around Valier, in northwestern Montana. According to Ed Keeley, mining association president, the bureau has estimated there is approximately 59 million tons of the ore in one deposit near Choteau, Mont.

Seventy-five percent of the 1,200 major Army Ordnance items now in use by U. S. forces have been newly designed or radically improved since the beginning of the war.

First Night Softball League Opens In Ted Lewis Park

INITIAL GAME PROVES TO BE RUNAWAY TILT

Perry Enters County Finals In Preliminary; Blue Ribbon Wins 17-4

More than 1,000 softball fans were present Monday evening for the opening of Circleville's first night softball league.

The first league game in Ted Lewis park failed to live up to expectations but the crowd was much impressed with the facilities that are now available to city and county residents who like outdoor sports.

Blue Ribbon Dairy won the first game by a 17-4 score from Ralston-Purina. The winners got only five hits but 14 walks and eight errors helped them take an easy victory.

Early comers to the park had the pleasure of seeing two games. The much-postponed semi-final contest of the county softball tournament between Perry and Walnut schools was played before the night league game. Perry won 5-4 with a rally in the last inning. The Perry team will now meet Ashville in the finals, set tentatively for Friday night.

Blue Ribbon made the league game a walkaway in the sixth inning when eight runs were scored on two hits. Purina's big inning was the fourth when three runs were scored on two hits. The losers banded out nine hits but could not put them together to make runs.

Dilley and R. Whaley had two for three for Purina while Norporth hit a single and double. Hines poked out a triple. Pitcher Bo Wellington poled a triple for Blue Ribbon.

Dilley, who started on the mound for Purina, gave up 12 walks. His successor, Ward, allowed two. Wellington gave Purina three walks.

Tuesday night Circle City and Coca-Cola are scheduled if rain and cold weather do not interfere. Batteries for the first game: Purina: Dilley, Ward and Cook; Blue Ribbon: Wellington and Stevens.

Score by innings:
Purina 000 300 1—4-9-8
Blue Ribbon .. 015 308 x—17-5-2

BUDDY POPPIES WILL BE SOLD HERE SATURDAY

JACKSON HOLDS 32ND ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

Ten Jackson township high school seniors were presented their diplomas at the school's thirty-second annual commencement exercises in the Jackson school auditorium Monday evening.

The Rev. Sam Elsea, pastor, Emmett's Chapel, Mt. Pleasant, gave the invocation. Music for the commencement program was presented by the high school orchestra and musical instrument soloists Margaret Jean Stevenson, cornet, and Frances Tomlinson, saxophone. Dr. Walter Collins, state department of education, gave the main address.

Faith Grabill presented the salutatory and Nell Louise Bumgarner presented the valedictory. George D. McDowell, county school superintendent, presented diplomas to Helen Louise Eccard, class president, John R. Heffner, vice president, Norma Jean Eitel, secretary, Marjorie E. Downs, treasurer, Mary Lou Amann, Kenneth E. Bumgarner, Nell Louise Bumgarner, Faith Grabill, Bette Bernice Starkey and Mary Jane Willoughby.

fice, a successful creature of the old league of nations.

Shrewdly he did not seek the place for his own AFL world group which is represented by an organization known as the international federation of trades union.

He did not seek to steal for himself the world authority and power which he would deny to the CIO crowd, but would leave it to an established league of nations organization. His position was impregnable.

I hear that even the British have become suspicious of Hillman's effort to align with the Communists in a front which would in some ways be as powerful as the peace setup of the nations and—if Hillman's coup had gone through—able to influence the judgment of nations. The Russian unions are not free trade unions but subdivisions of the government.

I understand that even Sir Walter Citrine, the British ultra-liberal leader, is looking for open doors behind him to escape politely the agreement Hillman and the Russians effected in London some months ago establishing this new organization.

The British trade unions which were unanimously represented in that London gathering have now split, and I do not expect they will go very much further with Hillman and the Russian effort to capture world labor control.

Hillman, by this effort coming atop his domestic electoral activities, has lost much ground in Washington, particularly in congress.

No doubt he will try to come back and continue to build world labor power against the AFL's international unions, but the chances that he could become a great world control influence (as he tried domestically) seem to have been stopped definitely by the San Francisco action.

Also in his coming world combat with AFL, I would bet against him. Totalitarian trade unions are hardly what American workmen

with our boys in the Mighty Seventh

Every American here at home has the opportunity to go over the top with our fighting men now pushing their way toward final victory.

American soldiers are giving their very lives but we are only being asked to lend our money during the Seventh War Loan—the big double drive that will have to do the work of the two drives we had by this time last year.

If you have any income, from any source—whether from work, land or capital—you have a personal quota in this drive. Find out what your quota is—fill it—and then buy more Bonds if you can. Your home-front duty is to help put the Seventh War Loan over the top. Let's do our job well!

ALL OUT FOR THE MIGHTY SEVENTH!

want. His league with the Russians (especially as it loses British support) may hurt the CIO in domestic labor dealings.

Furthermore, the AFL is rather powerful internationally and able to take care of itself in most countries, although the hegemony acquired by Russia in eastern Europe the Balkans, Austria, Greece, etc., and perhaps even in the trade union movements in France and Italy will promote a dangerous new opposition growth.

Mr. Green's cry that his AFL represents American trade union concepts, however, is apt to be popular where it counts most, in the United States—including Washington, the center of national power.

EARL WEAVER IS HOME AFTER 3 YEARS IN NAVY

Chief Petty Officer Earl Weaver, former Pickaway county deputy sheriff, has returned to Circleville following discharge from active service. Weaver has seen three years of active service in the Pacific theatre of war and was discharged at Seattle, Washington, last week.

He visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Weaver in Columbus until Sunday when he came to Circleville and is living at the home of Mrs. Noah Spangler, West High street. His parents and brother, Vernon and Miss Anne Leist, Columbus and Miss Ruth Rogge, Zanesville were other guests at the Spangler home, Sunday.

Sterling; Edward W. Strawser, Circleville; Earl E. McAfee, Kingston; Orrin D. Eitel, Circleville; James F. Burgess, Fayette county.
